special Dispatch to the Datly Eagle. EMINENCE, Kan., July 13.-The notorius Garfield county seat fight, which has been a very bitter and unpleasant one for the residents of that county, lasting over ourt on the 5th inst., declaring Eminence the county seat of Garfield county. Rsvanna, the other town engaged in the fight, has been holding the county seat since the election for the same that was held in November, 1886, and the supreme coutt has decided that all those who have been holding office and doing the county siness were not legally elected, and that the votes of the people of the county never placed the county seat at Ra-vanna, but that a certain election board composed entirely of Ravanna partisans and adherents, some time during the count, counted eighty-six fraudulent votes. This resulted in a contest and a victory for Eminence. The Emmence people held a grand cele-bration in honor of their victory today, and about two thousand people were present, having come from all surrounding counties, and many of the old friends of the town coming as far as two hundred miles to be present at the celebration and enjoy the harmonious jollification. Orations were delivered by several prominent western orators, among which were the Hon. C. J. Jones, president of the Eminence Town company, and one that has the name of being a "terror" to ballot box stuffers and ringsters; Hon. Milton Brown, of Garden City, the lawyer who has gained an enviable reputation in the supreme court of Kansas by winning several of the noted county seat cases in this part of the state, the last of which was the Garfield county case; E. J. Clarke, of Ingalls; Allen Simons, of Eminence; J. Jennings, of Ingalls, and several others.

Two fatted calves were slain and a free dinner given for all. The writer of this article, who had the pleasure of being present, was very much surprised to find that people of both the contesting towns were mingling together in celebrating the event. The hatchet had been burried and harmony and peace was restored throughnence Town company, and one that has

A RARE WHEAT DISEASE. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 13.-Horace E. Stockbridge, director of the government experiment station for Indiana, located at Perdue university, near Lafayette, Ind., has been investigating a new wheat disease that has appeared in certain sections sections of the state, particularly in Lagrauge county, and which is seriously affecting the wheat crop over considerable areas. The damage likely to be wrought by it and the rareness with which it occurs in this country seems to render a brief description of the infection of importance to the agricultural community. The disease is a fungoid growth, known as "bunt" or "stinking smut" on account of its strong and disagreeable odor. It is rarely found in America, but is not uncommon in England. The wheat head on ripening may possess a very nearly formed appearance but on shelling the grains are found to be filled with a black, greasy powder, the result of the growth of the growth of the fungus beginning with the very germination of the seed and keeping pace with the growth of the plant. Its action is no more harmful than common smut, but its odor renders it more objectionable. Where not very abundant it may be separated from the good grain either by fanning or by washing. It is very apt to occur so abundantly in a field, nowever, as to reader the entire crop well-nigh worthless, it does not spread in the field, but the germs producing it adhere to the grain and are thus sown with the seed. Seed wheat may be freed from the spores by being soaked in a solution of blue vitrol (sulphate of copper for thirty-six hours, four ounces of the sulphate being used to one gailon of water.
